A 6 BY 9 RHYME.

A queer little boy who had been to school,
And was up to all sorts of tricks,
Discovered that when upside down,
Would pass for the figure 6.

So when asked his age by a good old dame,
The comical youngster said,
"I'm 9 when I stand on my feet like this,
But 6 when I stand on my head!"

—From Chatterbox.

Concerning Pork Chops.

Mr. Gladstone writes thus on the subject of pork chops in Nineteenth Century: Although the question respecting the keeping of swine and the use of pork is by no means disposed of, either by the authorities quoted in the text or by Wilkinsons, I venture at this stage to offer the following conjectures as somewhat probable in themselves and not inconsistent with the evidence as a whole: 1. That in the warm climates of Egypt and Phoenicia the use of pork was on sanitary grounds, repressed by prohibitions or restricted to particular occasions. 2. That the great thrift resulting from the rearing and consumption of the animal may have kept the practice extensively alive, notwithstanding restrictive laws, especially among the classes to whom thrift was an important object. 3. That as the pig is useless to man during life, it is very difficult to account for its being bred and kept, as it evidently was, except upon the supposition that it was wanted for food. 4. That if the animal as domesticated was brought into Greece by Phoenician ships, its consumption for food may have spread there, in a cooler climate and a society free from sumptuary restraints, and yet in Homer's day may not have wholly ceased to be a distinct mark of southeastern origin and associations. 5. That the sialos, the carefully and delicately fattened pig, was served as a luxury at the tables of the rich, while the use of common pork was reserved, as in the cottage of Eumaios, for the poorer class. Such is the evidence of the "Odyssey."

Obliging His Friends.

"Are you taking medicine for anything?" asked a young man yesterday of a friend who stopped him on a corner. The astonished friend recovered from his surprise long enough to say he was not. "Well," went on the young man, "if you had been, I should have hurried on. Why? Well, because I think I have more ailing friends than any one else in town, and the worst of it is that they persist in telling me all about their ills and go so far as to ask me to try their medicine. I, who am always well, am nearly sick from it. In the aggregate last week I tasted four different styles of pills, three clixars and tried two catarrh cures. What could I do when a friend came up and told me of his ailment and what he was taking for it, and then asked me to have a pill with him? I like to please every one, but if this keeps on I am sure it will be the death of me. The other day I met a friend who has catarrh and he asked me to go up and call on Billy Clarke to try his new catarrh cure. Now, I know Billy when he used to sell Chapin & Gore's catarrh cure, and I went up to see him, but my friend wanted me to try the cure. I haven't catarrh, but I obliged him. Then in the next block I met a friend with a new rheumatism pill and I had to try two of those to oblige him. This thing will kill me unless I buy antidotes," and the young man walked sadly away.—Chicago Herald.

The Japan Quince.

Japan, or scarlet flowering quince, is too well known to need description or recommendation, but it might be often used more effectively than it is. It is easily propagated by cutting of the roots, by offshoots or layering, and if any one who may have a use for the plants will bend down the outer branches of a bush, and bury a portion of the stem with earth, he will, in two years' time, have a lot of plants with which can be made a very ornamental hedge. There are many places where a short hedge of two or three rods is more tasteful and beautiful than a fence, and the cydonia japonica makes an efficient substitute, as the thorns will turn stock. For massing in large groups this plant is excellent, its scarlet bloom and glossy foliage being showy and beautiful. Its singular, unshapely fruit, borne on mature bushes, is not poisonous, as some imagine, nor is it of much value.—Escondido Nor California.

Dainties of the Primal Land.

Snakes, lizards, grasshoppers, tregrubs, the larvae of beetles, brush turkey's eggs, wild honey—in fact, the scrub is full of food when you know how to get it. The best part of a snake is the liver, which is over a foot long in the big snakes. By the way, the natives never eat food that is not cooked. A snake's liver is decidedly good, and a gamay flavon. Lizard's flesh is like chicken. The beetle larvae are popped into the fire and eaten with wild honey; they taste like an omelette. Grasshoppers and grasshoppers are also capital eating, with a nice, nutty flavor.—Greenland Explorer's Diary.

Protecting Her Grapes.

Although Russia does not rank among the great grape growing countries of Europe, nevertheless fear has been aroused by the ravages of phylloxera in other sections and the government has taken the matter in hand. A ukase has recently been issued prohibiting the importation of plants of any kind unless accompanied by a certificate that they are free from phylloxera. The penalty for any violation of the edict is of the usual Russian severity, and will undoubtedly act as a deterrent to the introduction of the disease.—San Francisco Chronicle.

For painting walls or other objects exposed to damp, a composition of very fine iron filings and linseed oil varnish is said to be much used in Germany; and when the object to be painted is to undergo frequent changes of temperature, linseed oil and amber varnish are added to the first two coats. This paint may be applied to wood, stone or iron; in the case of the latter, it is not necessary to free it first from rust or oily matters.

COLOR BLINDNESS.

HOW EYESIGHT IS TESTED BY RAILROAD PHYSICIANS.

Applicants for Positions Put Through the Worst and Blackboard Exercises—Four Per Cent. Are Found to Be Unfit for the Responsible Places.

"What color is that?" The speaker was Dr. B. F. Clark, physician of the C. H. and D. railroad. A tall, gangly man stood before a table on which were piled in great confusion several hundred skeins of different colored worsteds. They were of every shade and hue, from pea green to Mazarin blue, from solferino red to purple, gray, cherry and brown. The doctor continued: "The object of this test is to select the light and dark shades. Now, I'll go on and select them first," and the doctor put all the light and dark shades running from pea green to dark green in a little pile by themselves. The man watched him closely, and the greens were all thrown back into the heap, and the man began. "Don't let your hand run over the worsted, but let your eye do the work," said the doctor, as the man began fumbling over the pile. The man put gray and light yellow and brown together. "That'll do," said the doctor. "That man is not fit for an engineer, fireman, brakeman, switchman, conductor, or, in fact, any one who has use for signals. He is color-blind. That test alone is sufficient for any railroad, army or navy."

THE PECULIAR WEAKNESS. "Now to determine what this man's chromatic defect is we select a pink skein."

"If he is red blind he will pick out blues or violets, or both. If he should be green blind he will select grays and greens or blue greens. Sometimes, to verify the two previous tests, we lay out the red skein, and the party selects browns or greens in their different shades."

"What percentage do you find, of all those examined, to be color blind?" "About 4 per cent. are color blind. That is one out of every twenty-five individuals. There are more red blind than any other color."

"It is often asked why we don't examine the men by the lamps. It is one of the most difficult things to stain the glass regularly. When the glass is blown it cannot be made all the same color. Then, if the glass is thicker the color will be darker. Again, sometimes the wick is turned higher, and then the light has a greater luminosity, while the other is a very dull light. There may be dust or steam over the glass, and the light will be darker. A dirty white flag to one color blind would be taken for a green flag, which means safety. They would take a dirty dark green for red, which means danger. This would lead to endless confusion."

"Do you believe this to be a congenital defect?" "Yes; but it may also arise from disease, injuries and the excessive use of tobacco and alcohol. In one family I know of four who are color blind, two brothers and two sisters; in another family an uncle and a nephew."

"Do you examine for anything else?" "Oh, yes. It is just as important to examine for vision and hearing as it is for color blindness. In order to make the test for vision this is the programme: A test plate containing letters that can be seen at 200 feet and twenty feet, twenty feet being the normal eye, is placed at one end of the room. The room is darkened. The patient placed twenty feet distant, and then is requested to cover one eye while the other is being examined. If he sees what we call twenty twentys—that is, the letters representing twenty feet—he has normal vision. Both eyes are put to this test—first the right, then the left. If he has a vision in both eyes of twenty fifties minus—that is to say, if he can't see at twenty feet what he ought to see at fifty—he is rejected, provided glasses don't improve the vision. If a man can't see that big B, the large letter, which he ought to see at 200, at twenty feet with only one eye, then he has practically only one eye, and there have been several examined who never knew that they could not see out of only one eye."

TESTING FOR HEARING.

"How do you test for hearing?" "With my watch. The man is required to cover up his eyes and I place my watch to his ear, gradually removing it away until the exact distance that he can hear the ticking is known. He says 'No' when he ceases to hear it. Now, two-thirds of all the engineers are hard of hearing, or, better, defective in the right ear, which is due to their leaning out of the cab window, coming in constant contact with the wind; that is to say, the force of the wind coming in constant contact with the drum of the ear it becomes affected. The constant pressure on the drum of the ear has the effect of retracting it. It becomes concave. The range of vision is also tested. This is done by placing a man twelve or eighteen inches from a blackboard. He is requested to keep his eye directly on a chalk spot, which is on a level with the eye, the other eye being closed. He is directed to say 'Yes' the moment he sees anything moving toward that spot from above, below, to the right and to the left. This constitutes his range of vision. If he has any disease or injury to the eye we can always map out his range of vision, as the range is usually contracted in one of the four different directions. To illustrate, one man had a range of vision in the right eye, three inches to the left, six inches above, eight inches to the right and ten inches below. Of course he was rejected, because he could not see an approaching train.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Officer, what is the charge against this man?" "Yer honor, I caught him singin' 'In the gloom, O my darlin'.' " "Two years!"—Yenowine's News.

LOST, A LITTLE CHILD.

How the City's Waifs Are Cared for Until They Are Called For.

A great policeman, big enough and strong enough to have felled a horse with a single blow, carrying in his arms a little golden haired girl, upon whose sleeping face the tears had washed clean places in the dust and grime, walked briskly down Houston street toward police headquarters. The child was slumbering as comfortably as though she had been in the little crib at home, and the officer was as tender as if the little one was his own and helped make sunshine in his home on his days off duty. That a dozen children of the street, quick to catch sight of the pair, followed closely on the big policeman's heels until he went up the steps of the marble building in Mulberry street, and was lost to view behind the swinging doors.

Bluff Sergt. Kelleher was on duty, and when he saw the little bundle of humanity brought in, he sat down at his desk and began to turn, in a businesslike way, the leaves of an enormous book which lay in front of him. He kept turning until he came to the page where he had written last. Then, after carefully adjusting his eyeglasses, and dipping his pen in his big inkstand, he queried:

"Boy or girl, officer?" "Girl."

"How old?" "Bout 4 years."

"Where did you get her?" "Sixty-fifth street and Third avenue."

"Take her upstairs."

"Upstairs" meant to the top floor of the big building, where Matron Webb presides and acts the part of foster mother to the waifs and strays and foundlings of this big city who are picked up by the police.

The same scenes are enacted every night, and each day sees the pages of the big book, which Sergt. Kelleher keeps, fill up one by one with the brief stories and records of lost children.

Every night in the year fathers and mothers visit police headquarters and ask for the children who have been lost during the day. On pleasant evenings they sit on the stone steps and wait if the child has not already been found, and on stormy nights they go home, to return again later on.

A woman comes running down the street. She is one of the East Side poor. A shawl answers the purpose of cloak and hat. She stops long enough to ask of an idler on the corner:

"Where is the headquarters?" "Down where you see the green light" is always the answer, and she is off again. Up the steps she runs eagerly.

As she passes the swinging doors she almost runs down Old Joe, the doorman, who keeps a little private record on a slate of the children who are brought in during the night. Joe's voice is gruff, but it belies his nature.

"What's the matter?" he growls. "Have you found me baby?" and the toil worn hands clutch nervously at the frayed edges of the old red shawl.

"Boy or girl?" "A little girl with light hair."

"Go up stairs and look—top floor."

The stairs are steep and tiresome to climb, but mothers on such errands don't tire easily, and up she goes. Five minutes later a step is heard on the stairway. She is coming down again, and the red shawl is the background for a head of golden hair.

The woman is smiling now. She is about to go out to the street, but Old Joe again is in the way.

"Go in there and give your name," and he points to Sergt. Kelleher, and clairs up at the baby.

The sergeant takes the woman's name and address, and hugging the lost one tightly, the woman passes out into the street.—New York Evening Sun.

The "Driver's" Ants.

The most formidable of the insect pests that afflict the dwellers of the West African coast is the "driver's" ants. These insects move in vast armies of several millions, marching in a dense column two feet in width, at a uniform pace, and in a straight line.

If a native hut lies in their path, and the inmates fail to prevent the ants from gaining the threshold, the hut must be vacated till the long line has passed through and consumed everything eatable within the building.

The author of "Glimpses of Everland" says that the only thing which will stop the "drivers" is a large fire directly in their line of march. A native, when he discovers in time that the ants are marching toward his hut, kindles a fire in front of the advancing column. It turns neither to the right nor to the left, but plunges into the flames, for every ant seems impelled to go forward, no matter at what cost.

After the "drivers" have walked into the fire for an hour or two, and several hundred thousand have been consumed, their sturdy stoicism weakens. They deflect their line to the extent of a few feet, and, passing the fire, set out on a fresh path of destruction, which leads them clear of the hut they had threatened.—Youths' Companion.

Danger in Turning Gas Low.

In spite of the fact that these are days of popular enlightenment, the newspapers are not unfrequently called upon to chronicle a case where persons have been asphyxiated through ignorantly blowing out the gas instead of turning it off.

Little attention, however, has been drawn to a danger not as great, but more common. This consists in the habit many persons have of allowing one bracket to burn dimly all night long while they are asleep. If the gas is to be kept burning at all, it should for safety's sake be kept blazing fairly high; when the flame is reduced to the faint blue spark the least diminution in pressure at the works will cause this to go out, and when the pressure is renewed the gas, of course, escapes steadily into the room, to the possible injury of all its inmates. A night lamp should be used if light is necessary, or a fair blaze so shaded as not to fall upon the faces of sleepers.—Sorghville Journal.

RAILROAD TAX CASES.

The Austin Revelle is very importunate to have Washoe county hurry up the tax case against the Central Pacific railroad in the Supreme Court of the United States. That paper reflects the views of certain officials and attorneys of Lander county who are very anxious to avail themselves of both the talents and labors of those directly interested in the affairs of Washoe county. This county has stood at the front in all matters where there has been any contest with the Central Pacific. She was the first to raise the valuation on the road-bed, and the first that had the intelligence and backbone to tax the surveyed lands under the Act of Congress passed in 1886. She has been the first to go into Court to assert her rights under the law in more things than one against this vast corporation.

The case which the Revelle grows about, and tries to cast imputations about the backbone possessed by Washoe county officials, had its day in the District Court and Supreme Court of this State—without having to share the penalties imposed by law with outside attorneys—with results satisfactory to both the State and the county.

Now that the case is out of the hands of the county it will be well guarded by the Attorney General and be pushed to the best interests of the State.

If Lander county is in want of spot cash it might be suggested that she has a case pending in which, among others, are the same questions involved that are in issue in the case that went up from this county. It would be with more grace for the Revelle to prod its own local officers than to stir up others at such long range. Our treasury is not so depleted as to urge any break-neck speed, nor do we wish to stand in the background when duty calls, but we demur to other counties dictating what our duty is, when they should have made the fight, as we have done, but lam back on their laurels till forced to notice the law by the Attorney General, with whom we are willing to trust the course of the case taken to the United States Supreme Court.

The Savannah, the first steamship to cross the Atlantic ocean, sailed from Savannah, Ga., May 25, 1819, and made the passage to Liverpool in 26 days, using steam 18 days out of the total number. The ocean greyhounds of the present date make the passage in less than one-fifth the time the Savannah did above 70 years ago. It is predicted that 70 years hence a trip across the Atlantic will be made in 24 hours by air ships.

Years and experience abroad have developed in Stanley an abnormal bump of admiration for the kings and queens on the Continent. His native land was not worth a passing thought.

A Check on Rascality.

Treasurer Huston, after January 1, will have the regular bank punching machine brought into requisition to prevent the raising of checks. It punches round holes in the draft or check immediately preceding and following the figures, so as to make the raising of the check impossible. Mr. Huston says he has used these punches in his banking house with great success and although there has never been raised a check cashed at the Treasury Department he is fearful he will wake up some fine morning and find the Government awfully broke because there are very large checks and drafts issued daily and floated throughout the country. Mr. Huston has introduced a number of innovations which facilitate the work of his office and guard against the practice of dishonesty.

Navigation on the Sacramento Endangered.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 18.—Owing to the break in the levee along the Sacramento river below this city fears have been entertained that the river would change its channel, and navigation be destroyed. Governor Warren held a conference with a number of citizens to-day and it was determined to bring the matter to the attention of the General Government. The Governor sent the following dispatch to Senator Stanford: "Sacramento river is in danger of changing its channel. There is a break two miles below the bridge which is 1,000 feet wide. An immense bar is forming across the river below the break. As hydraulic mining has ceased the appropriation of $250,000 in the hands of the War Department is available and ought to be used now to save the navigation of the river." This will be followed by lengthy letters fully explaining the situation, which will be sent over the signature of the Governor, to Senators and Representatives, with a request that they urge upon the War Department the necessity of taking immediate action in the matter.

A Big Mining Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—The Benton Consolidated Mining Company, of Nevada, has begun proceedings against R. N. Graves and others and W. S. Wood, as executor of the estate of Seth Cook, deceased, praying that defendants be adjudged guilty of fraud and to recover $500,000, with interest, from July 25, 1886. It is alleged Cook and defendants, who were members of the Board of Directors of the company, fraudulently converted some $3,000,000 shares of the company's stock.

JACKSON, Cal., Dec. 18.—A. O. French was shot yesterday at his ranch, three miles east of here, by John DeGroot. He made toward DeGroot, who seized a shotgun and fired, some of the shot penetrating French's lung, and it is doubtful if he can recover. DeGroot is in jail.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Dec. 18.—Martin Phillips shot and seriously injured John Hall and John Graham, on Lopez island, Monday night. Phillips had just returned from his wedding tour, and his friends surprised him with a charivari. He fired into the crowd with a shotgun. Hall will probably die. Phillips is a prosperous farmer. Excitement runs high and fears for Phillips' safety are entertained by the officers. Phillips surrendered to the Sheriff.

A Big Sale of Breweries Postponed.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18.—The sale of the 18 breweries to the English syndicate is off, at least for the present. The brewery association is stocked for $5,000,000 and the syndicate offered to take the stock at $140 per share and assume a bonded indebtedness of $500,000. This would make a total of $12,000,000. The bonds were to draw 6 per cent.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

A CATTLE TRAIN BREAKS IN TWO ON A COLORADO RAILROAD.

A Mile-a-Minute Race for Life Down A Steep Mountain Grade.

Two Men Killed on the Denver and Rio Grande.

WATSONBURG, Dec. 18.—An accident occurred on the Denver and Rio Grande road last night, four miles west of here. The freight train left Levea, made up of two engines in front of twenty-two cars of cattle, ten freight cars, cabooses and engine in the rear. The train broke in three parts; and three began a race for life. The engines ran about three miles at the rate of over one mile a minute, down a grade 90 feet to the mile, and her middle section of 24 cars loaded with cattle and lumber overtook them. The front engine escaped, but the second one was instantly overwhelmed in the great mass of flying wreckage, which buried the engine and firemen beneath, killing them instantly. Seven cars of cattle and eight cars of lumber were piled up in the wreck and nearly all the cattle killed or horribly mangled. William Gleyer, the dead engineer, leaves a wife and one child. Thomas Baker, the fireman, was single. Both lived in Pueblo. Two brakemen were severely injured.

A Magnificent Gift.

At the annual dinner of the Wesleyan University club last week, it was announced that Dr. Daniel Ayers, of Brooklyn, had paid over to the trustees the sum of $250,000 as an endowment fund for the University. Dr. Ayers, though not a graduate of the college, recently gave it $50,000 to establish a chair of biology, and has also given other considerable sums. The newly elected President of the college, Bradford Raymond, added to the enthusiasm by the declaration that the trustees had resolved to add $250,000 to Dr. Ayer's gift, and that $50,000 of the amount had already been raised.

The Secretary's financial statement showed a credit of $19,008. The Superintendent's annual report was placed on file, and is as follows: There has been worked at the Thompson mill 250 tons of ore, at a cost of $6 per ton, which yielded a total of $1,525-1,000 per ton, or an average yield of $3,381 39, or an average yield of $13 525-1,000 per ton. FOOTPADS ABROAD.

Two Persons "Held Up" by Road Agent Near Reno—Charles McFarlin's Narrow Escape.

Tramps and footpads are getting too numerous in and around Reno for the safety of the public, and the officers are having their hands full in trying to rid the town of them. Last Saturday evening as Charles McFarlin was returning from the country in a buggy he was stopped by a man in the north edge of town and told to stand and deliver. The sudden appearance of the man frightened the horse, causing him to run, which Charles permitted him to do, not caring to remain in that vicinity any longer. The footpad seeing his prospects of getting a little booty thus escaping, the bullet entering Mr. McFarlin's overcoat just below the heart, striking two pencils in his pocket, breaking them off, then hitting the buckle of his suspender, and glancing off, passed out under his left arm and through the under part of his coat sleeve. This was a very narrow escape for Charles, and shows that the robber was rather desperate.

On Sunday night while Mrs. Smith and her daughter, who reside on the ranch of Mr. Soodgrass, were returning from church in a cart, and had reached a point on the Virginia road just beyond the residence of Jacob Steiner, she was confronted by a man with a pointed revolver who demanded her money. She informed him she had none, but offered what little jewelry she had on. After a moment's hesitation he told her to drive on, not caring to be caught with any of the jewelry in his possession.

Several small thefts are reported as having been committed within the last few days. A car-load of these bad characters arrived on one freight train the other night, and were unloaded here. The officers have succeeded in arresting several of them, but there are still a large number loose around Reno, whose services the town can get along without, and the sooner they make themselves scarce around this section the better for themselves and the community.

PAN-AMERICANS.

The Members of the Congress Will Visit This Coast.

The San Francisco Bulletin, of Tuesday, says: A dispatch received in this city this morning by a prominent gentleman stated that the Pan-American Congress, at the close of its session, would visit the Pacific Coast.

At a meeting of the Pacific Coast Board of Commerce resolutions were passed and a committee appointed to confer with the members of the conference urging them to visit the Golden West before returning to their respective countries.

Secretary Blaine, who has labored hard, and who was wholly instrumental in bringing together so many delegates of the different States, has been working with the Hon. M. M. Estee, of this city, to secure the presence of the Pan-Americans here, and they have at last been successful.

Mr. Friedlander, Secretary of the Pacific Coast Board of Commerce, has telegraphed Samuel Collier, at Tacoma, and the latter gentleman has been requested to confer with the Governors of California, Washington, Oregon and Nevada, with the intention of making the trip of the Pan-Americans exclusively a Pacific Coast matter, and recommending that a grand conference of all the commercial organizations of the different States be held at San Francisco. It is also expected that the outgrowth of this gathering of so many prominent persons of the different States will be the establishment of more intimate relations with the Pacific Coast, and also secure for us some of the vast trade of those countries.

The delegates will come by the way of the Southern Pacific, and it is reported that they will visit Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and Los Angeles. The representatives, while on their visit here, will be banqueted, entertained and taken to various parts of the State, and also be shown what California can do in the way of protection and manufacturing. It is expected that when the Pan-Americans visit the cities and towns of the interior the prominent men will take them in hand and show them through the various manufacturing establishments and the orchards and vineyards.

Comstock Lode Statistics.

The annual bullion yield of the Comstock lode represents fully 80 per cent. of the product of the State.

There are 43 mines on the lode in operation.

The daily ore yield of the mines averages above 1,000 tons, the daily bullion product of which aggregates $20,000.

The sum of $2,500,000 is disbursed annually to mine and mill employees, of which there is a total of 2,000.

A total of 200 cords of fuel are consumed daily by mine steam hoist plants, and 100,000 feet of lumber is sent down into the mines every 24 hours for timbering drifts and other underground openings.

The total population is estimated at 11,000 and the bullion yield of the lode is equal to $2 for each inhabitant.

The bullion yield of the lode the current year will aggregate about $5,150,000, and the total assessments levied amount to $1,831,050.

The Reno Trade Meeting.

Humboldt county should be well represented at the meeting which is to be held at Reno next Saturday for the purpose of organizing a State Board of Trade. Much benefit may result from it, and every community in the State should assist in organizing it. The railroad company has generously reduced the fare from all points along the railroad in Nevada to Reno.

ALONG THE RAILROAD.

Reno and Carson Amenity—Irrigation and Water Storage Problems Solved—Milling and Mining Benefits.

Alfred Doten writes the Enterprise the following:

The new railroad depot at Reno is completed with the exception of a few minor details of ornamental finish, and will be fully occupied before the end of the present week. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express is already in full occupation of the west end. It is a long structure covering the entire length of the destroyed depot, warehouse, etc., and the same width between the railroad tracks as before. Being only one story high, with its massive brick walls and low projecting stone roof, it merely looks like what it is—a great railroad depot. All the various compartments, waiting and baggage-rooms, telegraph and ticket offices, and private conveyances, are commodious and well arranged, but there are no lunch or whisky shops, and merely requires a regular railroad depot—only bit and nothing more, so far as Reno is concerned.

A BUILDING BOOM.

Will be inaugurated with the opening of the Spring and Summer seasons. The whole of the burnt district across the street, south of the depot, will be reconstructed substantially of brick, including a big four or five-story hotel and theatre, a car and other hotel and business houses, extending to Killeb's north the new city hall grounds, and all secured for two purposes, and the brick and stone work on y awaits the favorable weather. The same may be said of several building projects by private parties, to be erected in the vicinity of the bridge and Courthouse, and also on Downing's addition, as well as other eligible portions of the town. The coming year will be a prosperous one for Reno.

CARSON CITY.

The State Capital, even in Winter, looks clean, neat and respectable as ever—not muddy and sloppy like Reno and other places—and the elements of substantial, homelike prosperity are always present. The State and Federal buildings, offices and officers, the United States Mint, etc., all constitute a good portion of Carson's permanent prosperity, to say nothing of the immense lumber and wood business, railroads, shops, as good as new, and water as it is to be found in the world, and last, but not least, a fine class of citizens and well regulated society.

LUXURIOUS HAY.

Railroad passengers cannot help noticing the noble haystacks along the valley ranches, now being drawn upon and utilized as feed for hungry horses, cattle and sheep. The outside of these stacks are brown and weather-stained, but the interior cuts open fresh and green as when first cut, cured and carefully piled in. The alfalfa and natural grasses of Nevada cannot be excelled in any country—in fact, rarely equalled.

ABUNDANT WATERS.

The booming rivers and mountain streams, and the deep reserves of snow piled up along the grand old Sierra Nevada for future season reference, give assurance of an unusually long-continued supply for ranching, milling and mining purposes during the coming year. Washoe lake, with the new dam at its outlet, is fast filling up, and the irrigation and water storage problem is out of present discussion, but it has to come up again in due time.

SEALSKINS.

Competition for the Lease of the Seal Islands.

The San Francisco Post says: A dispatch has been received here announcing that Secretary Windom has decided to throw open the lease of St. George and St. Paul islands, now held by the Alaska Commercial Company, to general competition.

This decision was arrived at after several days' consultation with other members of the Cabinet, and, though all admitted that the Secretary had authority to grant the lease again, if he saw fit, without competition, it was deemed best for the interests of the Government that all have a chance at it.

The lease now held by the Alaska Commercial Company expires May 1. It includes the right to the exclusive sealing privileges in the eastern half of the Behring sea, and by the terms the company can kill 100,000 "bachelor" seals each year on the rookeries on the islands. Killing in the water is not allowed.

It is already known that several firms will bid for the business. The Alaska Commercial company will surely be there. Mr. Louis Stoes, President of the company, is now in New York on business connected with the re-lease, and the company has one advantage over all other bidders in knowing exactly what can be done with the franchise, and how much can be made out of it.

H. Lueber, the Montgomery street furrier, is another intending bidder. He and a company of gentlemen were in the field before when the Alaska company got the privilege, and they say now that they do not propose to be left behind in the matter.

There is some talk to the effect that Macquie & Moore, S. H. Frank, Wright, Boone & Co., James McKenna and some other local men who are interested in whaling and to a certain extent in the fur trade will be heard from also.

An Eastern company, which includes Michigan and New York capitalists, was organized last year especially to bid on the lease.

It will thus be seen that the competition may be quite active. There are some Eastern furriers still to hear from, notably A. E. Burkhardt, of Cincinnati, who is said to have his eye on the islands.

The lessees are now required to supply coal to all the native villages on Seal islands, and to provide schooling for the children of the natives.

N. S. G. W.

An Independent Order to be Founded in Nevada.

The Order of Native Sons of the Golden West should change its name to the Native Sons of Golden California. As it stands it is an imposition on the West and a lie upon its face. The Order will grant no charter to Lodges organized outside of the State of California, though they have been prayed to do so by numerous bodies of young men in this State and Oregon who were born in the Golden West. A few years ago about 50 young men of Virginia banded themselves together for the organization of a Lodge, and applied for a charter, but they were refused.

In view of these facts parties are being extensively circulated in Reno, as they will be in Virginia City and Carson in the due course of time, the ultimate object of which will be the formation of an Independent Order of Native Sons of the Golden West—minus imposition, exclusion and falsehood.

Nevada men are proving up land along the line of the Owens valley canal—Carson Tribune.

Why don't they prove up and improve at home.

CHARLES E. LAUGHTON.

The Leading Seattle Paper After His Seap—Appointing Committees in the Interest of the Northern Pacific.

Charles E. Laughton, formerly Lieutenant Governor of Nevada, and lately elected to a like position in the new State of Washington, is the general subject of comment with the papers of that State. He is accused of making up the Senate Committee in the interest of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Laughton has so flagrantly abused the trust reposed in him that there is talk of abolishing the office to which he was elected. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, the leading Republican paper of the new State, is after him red-eyed. In a recent issue it says editorially:

Reports from the State Capital leave no doubt that Lieutenant Governor Laughton has abused the trust imposed in him by the Senate. In naming the standing committees he has shown either a most culpable and dangerous want of judgment or on the subject of corruption interests. It is unpleasant to say this, unpleasant to witness that where strength and character was to be expected weakness, if not worse, has been found. But facts cannot be overlooked, and it will be strong to impute to Mr. Laughton.

While there is much which cannot be thought of without deep chagrin, and much to condemn with utmost severity, it is necessary to this time to name but a single instance—the Chairmanship of the Corporation Committee. Of the committee, which will have for its special work all legislation relative to railroad matters, Mr. Laughton has made a notorious misapprehension agent and of the chairman. There could have been but one purpose in putting Mr. Laughton at the head of the committee, namely, to serve the railroad. His character and his past relations to corporation jobs and legislative jugglery are too notorious to have escaped the knowledge of Mr. Laughton.

This appointment, not to speak of others scarcely less fit, ought not to be permitted by the Senate. This body has the right to create or reconstitute its own committees, and it is its duty to the commonwealth to protect public and popular against private and particular interests in this important matter. The courtesy with which it treated Mr. Laughton has been abused, and it should be reconsidered. Mr. Laughton should be deposed from the chairmanship of the Corporation Committee. This is a clear duty which the Senate owes to the people of the State. It is a duty which, if avoided, will bring untold damage to public interests and discredit upon the Legislature. Furthermore—this to the majority—it will work most serious injury to the Republican party.

THE $600,000 LOTTERY PRIZE.

Practical Joke Perpetrated on a Comstock Miner.

The Virginia Chronicle, of last evening, says:

A Gould & Curry minor was the victim of a practical joke last night. He has an aged relative in Ireland from whom he recently received a letter in which the writer stated that he dreamed of a very large sum of money, and that a prize of $600,000 at the December drawing of the Louisiana State lottery, which took place yesterday.

The miner, in full faith that the number dreamed by his relative would win, sent $40 through Wells, Fargo & Co. to New Orleans in a payday and received in return a ticket bearing the number mentioned in the letter from his distant relative. Confident that he would win the mine, he conducted his secret to Hebe Holman, foreman of the mine, who made a note of the number of the sanguine miner's ticket.

The miner was on shift last evening when the result of the drawing was announced in the Chronicle, and Holman sent a dispatch underground purporting to have been dated at New Orleans, which read as follows: "Congratulations you on holding ticket No. 88888, which won the capital prize of $600,000 in the drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery. Will remit immediately. Do you want it in coin or paper money?"

(Signed) M. DAUPHIN, President. On reading the dispatch, the miner, whose first name is Bob, gave utterance to a whoop that rang through every drift and opening on the 400 level of the Curry and his fellow miners soon gathered about him to ascertain the cause of his excitement and were shown the bogus dispatch. When the 3 o'clock shift came off shortly after Bob set up the wine liberally for the boys who had been informed of the hoax perpetrated, and Bob was encouraged to keep whooping them up—barely having time between drinks to outline for the boys his plans for the future, and he retired for the night confident that he was almost a millionaire.

WHAT ON EARTH.

Is the reason people will not, can not or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous prices, rather than take the medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at a price? No need, time in the world as long as such unprincipled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD MARKER, and every bottle that does not do its duty will cost you nothing.

DIED.

OGDEN—In Reno, December 18, 1889, Miss Jessie Merritt Ogden, aged 4 years and 3 months.

The funeral will take place from the residence of Alvaro Evans, Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and economy. More economical than the ordinary kind, and it can be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight steam or phosphate powders. Sold only in the Royal Baking Powder Co., 106 Wall street, New York.

SILVER ADVOCATES.

They Propose an International Conference.

A number of New England and Eastern Congressmen are not fully in favor of Secretary Windom's silver policy, which proposes the issue of silver certificates on silver bullion bought and deposited in the Treasury vaults. Among the Massachusetts men, Congressman Cogswell and Rockwell are against Windom's views in many very essential particulars, and are proposing the passage of a bill which will provide for an International Money Conference, which shall consist of delegates from every civilized nation. It is proposed to hold this conference in Washington or New York, and have it organized under American auspices, but with due courtesy to other nations. The conference is to consider the question of adopting silver as the secondary basis of coinage, or, as one Congressman expresses it, "to arrange for a bimetallic system of coinage which will be agreed upon by the civilized nations of the world."

As now rudely conceived, the idea is to have Secretary of State Blaine arrange for every detail of the conference, and to hold a meeting some time next year, probably in June and before Congress adjourns.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full cumulative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses Do a Dollar's Work." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Peculiar in its "goodname at home"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Sold by all druggists, $1 a bottle. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
